those seven years. The pain, mortification, less of sleep, both to myself and wife is simply indescribable on paper and one has to experience it to know what it is.

"I tried all kinds of doctors and remedies but I might as well have thrown my money down a sewer. They would dry it up for a little while and fill me with hope only to break out again just as bad if not worse. I had given up hope of ever being cured when I was induced by my wife to give the Cuticura Remedies a trial. After taking the Cuticura Remedies a trial. After taking the Cuticura Remedies for a little while I began to see a change and after taking in conjunction with the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Cintment, the trouble had entirely disappeared and my leg was as fine as the day I was born. Now after a lapse of six months with no signs of a recurrence I feel perfectly safe in extending to you my heartfelt thanks for the good the Cuticura Remedies have done for me. I shall always recommend them to my friends. W. H. White, 312 E. Cabot St., Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 4 and Apr. 13, 1909."

Blood Poison 30-Day Treatment FREE

Washington, Jan. 25.-Declaring that James A. Patten, secretary of the immigration Restriction league, had told a "wicked, cruel, deliberate and malicious lie" when he gave Representative Macon of Arkansas informa-tion upon which the latter based his speech yesterday, Representative Bennett made a vigorous defense of the immigration commission in the house today.

"Statements of the gentleman from Arkansas require an instant, full and complete retraction," shouled Mr. Bennett, after he had explained in de-tail the work of the commission, its trip abroad in 1997, which Mr. Macon had termed a "unker," and the results it had accomplished. Mr. Macon met Mr. Bennettt's demands with a sharp reply. "I am not going to accept what the gentleman from New York has said to this house as gospel," exclaimed Mr. Macon. "It is a question of veracity, and one of these gentlemen has as much credence on the part of the house as the other until one or the other shows himself to be liar and the other shows himself to a saint-and the gentleman from

New York is not a saint."

Mr. Macon admitted that Mr. Patten was his informant. Mr. Macon explained that Mr. Patten was a son-inw of a deceased member of the com-

"I am not here to take back any part of my statement that the trip broad was a junket," exclaimed Mr.

Thus the incident was closed withon Mr. Macon having receded from this position, but not until after Mr. Mann of Illinois had refused to consent to Mr. Macon's request for perassion to revise his remarks in the

Mr. Macon explained that he merely nted to correct "bad English," but. Mann reforted that it was unnecsary to obtain consent for that, and that both parties to the controversy ild have to go on record for what

It was thought for a time that Mr. Mann's statement indicated that Mr. Macon might be called to account by he rules committee for using unparliamentary language toward a fellow member of the house, but it soon deeloped that there was no such intention. It was argued that Mr. Macon had not called Mr. Bennett a "liar," some members had construed his

Mr. Bennett made a general denial of charges voiced by Mr. Macon, and asserted that the member from Arkan-sas had made them without taking the trouble to ascertain whether or not they were true. He said the commission had spent only $13,000 of the people's money on their trip of investigation abroad, but had gone down into their own pockets for more than that amount rather than charge to their expense accounts all they had

In the four months the commission was in Europe, he said, he had little time to devote to sight-seeing.
"I went through Rome without see ing St. Peter's or the Applan way," declared Mr. Bennett, and added that he had only made two flying trips to by the next train.

When Mr. Bennett asserted that William R. Whoeler had given up a $10,000 position to accept one for $7,500 with the commission. Mr. Macon incredulously interrupted to say that, if he had done that, he would

Washington, Jan. 25.—Denouncing as "infamously and maliclously and vantonly false" statements made in the house yesterday by Representa-tive Macon of Arkansas, Representative Bennett of New York, a member of the immigration commission, arose to a question of personal privilege in the house today to defend the com-

Mr. Bennet declared that the gen-tleman from Arkansas by a five-minute walk from the capitol could have reached the headquarters of the commission and could have found that the charges he voiced were untrue. "I said." interposed Mr. Macon, "I had been advised that what I said was true. The gentleman does not, hope, deny that I received such infor-

Insisting that Mr. Macon might have discovered the falsity his charges. Mr. Bennettt referred to a report made to the house within two weeks, and accessible to everybody, which, he said, showed the facts in relation to "the white slave traffic." "I am anxious to have the gentle-man make a statement of the proceedings of the commission," protested

"The expenses of the commission and seven empolyes," proceeded Mr. Bennettt, "for three months travel, would amount to $13,000, traveling, as we did, as the commissioners of the best government under the sun. This statement requires instant and full re-

Referring to the commission's trip abroad, Mr. Bennett said he had passed only one day in Naples in "taking a vacation," by seeing some objects of interest.

"I went (brough Rome," he contin-ued, "without seeing St. Peter's or the Appian Way I did visit the king of Italy, which it was my duty to do. If the gentleman will go to the treasury department," said Mr. Bennett, "he can find what every egg I ate for

JEFF'S RATING HIGHER THAN NECRO CHAMPION'S

Says F. U. Fitzgerald in the Salt Lake Telegram: In boxing as in footbal we may be governed to a certain extent by "comparative scores." Also, however, we must remember that the undefeated pugilist, that is, the man who has never been knocked out, is the only one whom we may look upon as peerless. Leaving out of consideration Jeff's vacation period his rating should be much higher than that of Johnson Jack Johnson has been knocked out. Jim Jeffrics has never been in a bad way.

The two boxers were scarcely contemporaneous. Jeff met and defeated all of the old guard, but Johnson met only one or two of them. Jeffries fought a twenty-round draw with Choynski when Choynski was at his best and Jeff was scarcely more than an amateur. A few years later, when Choynski was joining the has-been class he knocked out Jack Johnson in three rounds. The only other man whom they both met is Bob Fitsimmons. Leff and Bob fought when nons. Jeff and Bob fought when they were both in their prime. Jeff knocked Fitzsimmons out in both of their two encounters, once in eleven rounds and the other time in eight. Jack Johnson met Fitzsimmons after the fighting force of the big Cornishman was gone and disposed of him easily in two rounds. Johnson has met and defeated some good middle-weigns, but has not clashed once with a heavyweight who was in a class with those knocked out by Jeffries. Johnson has a chance with Jeff from the fact that the vacation of the big boller-maker may have been disastrous but on his record he hasn't the slightest chance. Jeff has all the confidence of the man who has never been feazed by the hardest hitters the ring has ever produced, while John-son's chances are not increased by the remembrance of the Choynski punch that sent him to dreamland. Too, Johnson has not been leading an angelic career. Since he has been champion the wine has flowed freely and the big black man has been the leading figure in many a soirce that led to the police station. Despite the gloomy predictions, the white man

RINK BOYS STRIKE FOR HICHER WACES

"Back to the rink, there'll be no strike tonight." The above is the word that was hurriedly passed around last night by six boys who went on a strike at the Auditorium skating rink and later returned to work.

The skate boys were receiving $3 per week. They wanted more, but Frank Brown, the manager, would not grant it. When the boys came to draw their salaries they were surprised to receive $150 invited of $2. prised to receive $1.50 instead of $3. This made the boys mad and they All the other boys went on

SALT LAKE AND STATE NEW

Salt Lake, Jan. 25.—If the roads of Utah, Idaho, Colorado and Nevada are not improved within the next year, it be no fault of about 500 good roads boosters who will go into session tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at Armory hall on Pierpont street The convention is sure to be the largest attended and the most enthusiastic in the history of the west, principally because of the agitation in the roads line which has been raised and because of the legislation which has been secured and which needs things humming in the improvement of tse roads.

There will be many eminent speakers, including Governor Spry, Mayor Bransford, Governor Brady of Idaho and J. H. Dodge of the bureau of good roads in the department of agricul-parts of the west pledging representa tion and support of all the commercial organizations. The reduced rates on the railroads and the aviation contest which will be held Saturday and Sunday will make it possible for all pledged delegates to come at a small cost. The Commercial club aas ex-tended the visitors the use of the club during the stay in the city, and other provisions have been made to make a success of the affair.

Governor B. B. Brooks of Wyoming has notified the local committee that more delegates have been appointed by him than are provided. He did this to assure a full representation from

Mr. Hodge, representing the government, will arrive in this city either this afternoon or tomorrow morning prepared to deliver several addresses on the good roads proposition, and other notables will come in tonight and tomorrow. A number of the delegates are already on hand and they report that more are coming. The in terest seems general in the affair, and accomplished when the session come to a final close Friday afternoon.

Salt Lake, Jan. 25 .- Rival of Eleanora Duse, Italy's greatest actress, and inspiration and love of Gabriel d'Annunzio, greatest poet and dramatist or ry, are but incidents in the career of a Salt Lake girl, Miss Geneva Par-sons, as outlined in letters from her mother, Mrs. Charles C. Parsons, to her husband, while mother and daughter were abroad. These letters were read in divorce court this morning. They tell of the mad love of d'Annunzio for the Salt Lake beauty; of the infatuation of the a duel between l'Annunzio and count on account of Mids Parsons and of d'Annunzio's degradation be cause of his conduct. While his love for Miss Parsons was his inspiration, the letters say, the great Italian wrote his greatest play which contained an anagram suffi-ciently near the name "Neva" to indicate that it was Miss Parsons who was meant, and to make her the talk of Italy. Followed also a duel, in the tory told by the letters, between a young guardsman, who espoused the cause of the American girl, fought in Florence.

Mr. and Mrs. Parsons are well known in sicety and business corcles of Salt Lake. They were divorced be-fore, but remarried in 1901. Four months after the marriage Mrs. Par-sons and her daughter went abroad and traveled extensively on the contibrought a suit for separate mainten ance, and a cross bill for divorce was filed by her husband, charging deser-

Father is Estranged. It is set up by Mr. Parsons' lawyers that the desire of Mrs. Parsons for a European alliance for Miss Geneva Parsons was the cause of the estrangement between them., The present hearing before Judge C. W. Morse of the district court is on the cross bill of Mrs. Parsons.

Mrs. Parsons was on the stand all morning and was severely cross-examined concerning the letters written to her husband. These letters are chiefly concerning the destiny of the daughter. Mrs. Parsons admitted that the chief trouble that had arisen was over the desire that her daughter should marry a title, but asserted that at one time her husband had assented to a foreign marriage for the girl.

"I have realized for five years," she writes "that Neva had a great destiny before her. You want to wait until you can take her about leisurely with you, or to have her make the match of the ordinary American girl. You would like to have her marry an American of the average American life, and lead the life of an American girl. She is not in the average type. She is an inspired creature with splendid dramatic, esthetic, poetic and literary possibilities before her."

11's a Good Sound Common Sense Policy

To use medicines only of KNOWN COMPOSITION, and which contain neither alcohol nor habit-form ing drugs. It is foolish-often dangerous to do otherwise. The most intelligent people, and many of the most successful, conscientious physicians, follow this judicious course of action. The leading medical authorities, of all schools of medicine, endorse the ingredients composing Dr. Pierce's medicines. These are plainly printed on wrappers and attested under oath. There's no secrecy; an open publicity, square-deal policy is followed by the makers.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

THE ONE REMEDY for woman's ailments, sold by druggists, devised and gotten up by a regularly graduated physician of vast experience in treating woman's peculiar diseases and carefully adapted to work in harmony with her delicate organization, by an experienced and skilled specialist in her maladies.

THE ONE REMEDY for women, the composition of which is so perfect and good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient, in plain English on its outside bottle-wrapper, and attest the correctness of the same under oath.

We have a profound desire to avoid all offense to the most delicate sensitiveness of modest women, for whom we entertain the most sincere respect and admiration. We shall not, therefore, particularize here concerning the symptoms and peculiar ailments incident to the sex for which Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has for more than 40 years proven such a boon. We cannot, however, do a better service to the afflicted of the gentler sex than to refer them to Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a great family doctor book of 1000 pages, bound in cloth and given away gratis, or sent, post-paid, on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps—to cover cost of mailing only. All the delicate ailments and matters about which every woman, whether young or old, single or married, should know, but which their sense of delicacy makes them hesitate to ask even the family physician about, are made plain in this great book. Write for it.
